DIATHERMY CONSUMABLES

Diathermy Consumables are used for medical procedures involving electrosurgery. Electrosurgery is the application of a high-frequency electric current to make precise cuts with limited blood loss.

Electrosurgery is commonly used in dermatological, gynaecological, cardiac, plastic, ocular, spinal, ENT, maxillofacial, orthopaedic, urological, neurological and general surgical procedures as well as certain dental procedures.

Several sterile pencils are available, in push-button configurations with holsters to help promote safe use.

Single Use Split Diathermy Plates are designed to act as a neutral return electrode to carry electric currents away from the patient during surgical procedures involving diathermy. The reusable patient return capacitive electrode pads, are designed for use during monopolar electrosurgery.

The electrode is incorporated into a pad and is intended to reduce the risk of burns and to provide pressure relief. The patient lies on the pad to complete the electrical circuit.

DIATHERMY PENCILS & ELECTRODES - Page 4 to 8

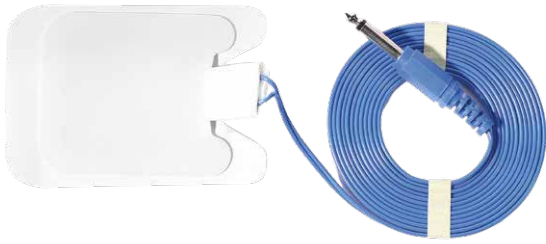

We provide quality diathermy pencils, electrode attachments, cautery pens, tip cleaners, X-ray scratch pads, polishers and other associated accessories. Diathermy pencils are used during surgical procedures to cut tissue and produce coagulation via electro-surgery. The electrode attachments are used in conjunction with the diathermy pencils. Associated accessories can also be used in conjunction with both pencils and electrode attachments.

To provide surgeons with a more traditional feel, these pencils feature tactile buttons, less memory in the cords, and high-quality plugs. Several sterile pencil options are available in push-button configurations with holsters to help promote safe use.

ACCESSORIES - Page 8

Electrosurgical accessories, such as tip cleaners and holsters, can be as vital to a procedure as your generator. Safety holsters are recommended by nursing associations like AfPP* for holding cautery pencils when they are not in use and can be invaluable in helping to protect your patients and staff. To ensure that you never run out of any electrosurgical products, you need a supplier that offers a quick turnaround time with an outstanding service.

AfPP standards and recommendations for safe perioperative practice in 2011 suggest that the active electrode should be stored securely in a non-conductive container when not in use.*

We have over 20 years experience of working in the NHS supporting the delivery of products and healthcare services. We are committed to supporting the NHS by delivering products that prioritise patient safety at the best value without compromising quality, safety and service.

Our products go through extensive quality control procedures at each step of the manufacturing, assembly, packing and shipping process following strict sterilisation, hygiene, technical and quality compliance procedures. These are verified regularly and independently to ensure consistent results and quality targets. Spot checking and testing is also carried out throughout the manufacturing process and on finished products.

Supplies available to purchase through NHS Supply Chain or get in touch to buy direct. Discounts and rebates are available.
